Guidance note issued by the CBDT on 2 Dec, 2016 to the officials to gather information: The Board has advised its officers that while carrying out actions of searches, surveys, summons, etc they should also collect evidences, information which may be useful for PBPT Act on the following lines:-

- a) Identification and examination of legal/apparent owner(s) and beneficial/real owner(s) of the property, inter alia w.r.t. holding/transferring of the property and payment of consideration for such property.
- b) Whether the property is held/transferred for the immediate or future benefit, direct or indirect, of a person other than the person who has provided the consideration.
- c) Examination of the source of fund through which the property was acquired.

- d) Whether a transaction or an arrangement in respect of the property has been made in a fictitious name.
- e) Whether the apparent owner is not aware of or denies knowledge of the property? Such a situation may lead to classification of the property as benami property.
- f) A property where the person providing the consideration is not traceable or is fictitious may also be classified as benami property.

e) Upon identification of a property as benami property or in case where the investigating Officer has prima facie reason to believe that the property in question may be a benami property, the information, after the approval of the controlling officer, should be passed on to the Initiating Officer within a period of 60 days. Ingredients for categorising a property Benami as Property under the common law:-

Jay Dayal Poddar vs. BIBI Others Hazra Æ (dt.19.10.1973 1974 AIR 171) Followed again in Rajinder Prasad Malik vs. Shanti Devi Malik (AIR 2003 P&H 29)

It was held in the said judgment that though there is no absolute formula or acid test, however the courts are usually guided by following circumstances:-

- 1. The source from which the purchase money came;
- 2. The nature and possession of the property, after the purchase;

- 3. Motive, if any, for giving the transaction a benami colour;
- 4. The position of the parties and the relationship, if any, between the claimant and the alleged benamidar;
- 5. The custody of the title deeds after the sale;
- 6. The conduct of parties concerned in dealing with the property after the sale;

Comparison & Interplay between PMLA & PBPT:

- Objective & Scope: Laundering of Crime Money
- Powers of Arrest, Search and Survey and Impounding of Documents and attachment of property without notice
- Area of operation: International
- Section 62 of PMLA makes officers liable for conviction and fine on illegal search, detention or arrest
- If PMLA is invoked, then PBPT would most likely be applicable. But vice-versa not mandatory

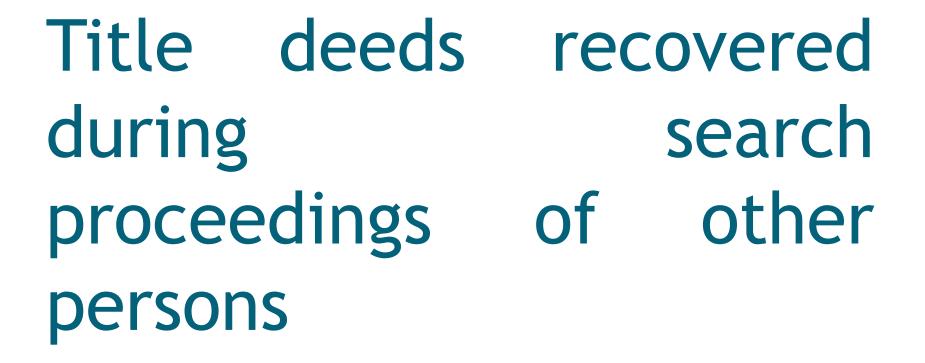

Certain Unimagined where situations PBPT Act shall get attracted.

Undisclosed investment in property :-

a) Joint Ownership - Ratio found different from recorded in Title Deed;
b) Name of any contributor not found in Title Deeds;
